COMMISSIONER LONGSTRETH TO VISIT LONDON, PARIS AND ZURICH

Commissioner Bevis Longstreth will visit London, Paris and Zurich next week to discuss issues of common concern with regulators and members of the securities industry. He will also address an international conference in Zurich.

Mr. Longstreth will be in London on Monday, September 20. He will visit the London Stock Exchange and meet with members of the exchange and officials at the Panel on Takeovers and Mergers, as well as with other regulatory officials. The Commissioner will be in Paris on Tuesday, September 21 where he will hold a similar round of meetings and visit the Paris Bourse. On Thursday and Friday, September 23 and 24, Mr. Longstreth will attend a conference in Zurich on "The European Business World and the Extraterritorial Application of United States Economic Regulation." He is scheduled to address the conference, at the Hotel Zurich, at 9:30 a.m. on Friday. The title of his address will be, "Toward Neutral Principles of International Securities Regulation."
